

International Week

FEAA 2020 2nd edition
May 4th to May 7th

Managing talent in a globalizing world

From May 4th to May 7th, 2020, we will host international students and international teachers to join the academic community for four days, to connect in an international environment and to strengthen the cooperation between universities.

THEME: HR in Europe: between heterogeneity and diversity

The focus will be on the HR issues that are currently being faced in the world and particularly in Europe in any type of organization. From HR strategy, recruitment, selection, training & development, compensation & benefits, processes are affected by international trends that shape different industries.

Participants will be involved in morning workshops and regular classes in English from the master program Strategic HR Management in Europe.

This event is meant to continue the internationalization activities that the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration has been heavily involved in during the past few years.
